

POETZEL GUILTY OF HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Youth Is Found Guilty in Oshkosh—Harry LaFond Is Discharged.

Edward Poetzl, Appleton, was found guilty of being armed with a deadly weapon and of robbing William Krieger, a Neenah taxi driver, in the night time, by a jury in municipal court in Oshkosh Thursday afternoon. Harry LaFond, arrested on the same charge, was discharged by the court when he could not be identified, and stoutly protested his innocence. Poetzl previously had confessed to part in the crime and the court refused to rule out the confession as part of the evidence.

Poetzl will be sentenced Aug. 1. The young men were arrested by the Appleton police department after a miniature crime wave. Several of their companions were sentenced to the reformatory in Green Bay a few months ago.

A veritable kaleidoscope of color and barbaric splendor is shown in the visualization of Mary Hasting Bradley's book which tells of what happened to a young American girl whose curiosity got the better of her caution and allowed her to venture into the mysterious abode as an Indian Rajah. There she finds herself unable to cope with the situation and a Fate worse than death confronts her. Seldom has there been a screen production so replete with tense situations, or with such an atmosphere of mystery and suspense.

MENASHA - NEENAH NEWS

SALOONMEN WILL CONFORM WITH LAW

New Regulations—Delphian Club Formed.

Menasha.—Nearly all of the saloonkeepers of Menasha who were granted licenses to sell nonintoxicating beverages at the special council meeting last Monday evening attended a meeting Thursday afternoon in Eagles Hall in Menasha, where ways and methods of doing business under the new prohibition law, as authorized by city attorney Henry Fitzgibbon, were discussed. All present unanimously declared their intention to do their utmost to conform with the new law. Some of the most drastic changes necessary will be that all screens and obstructions which prevent a clear view from the front to the rear of the room must be removed and no beer can be served or consumed over the bar but can be drunk several feet from the bar or any other place in the room. Several saloonkeepers have already begun to make the necessary change in their places of business.

Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Paul Evangelical church in Neenah occurred the wedding of Miss Jennie Drajewski daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drajewski, Winnebago ave., Menasha and Harvey Lehnning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lehnning, Oak-st., Neenah. Miss Drajewski wore white silk charmeuse with a veil. The bridesmaids were Miss Regina Drajewski sister of the bride, and Miss Esther Lehnning, sister of the groom. The groom was attended by Roscoe Sipe of Menasha and Edward Nielsen of Neenah. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents at 5 o'clock. The young couple left Thursday on a honeymoon trip to Chicago and other places in the south. On their return they will go to housekeeping on Napaust., Menasha.

Word was received in Menasha that A. D. Eldridge, one of Menasha's pioneer residents is seriously ill at a sanatorium at Orlando, Fla. Mr. Eldridge left Menasha about a year ago to make his home in Florida.

David Smith, foreman of the composing department of the Banta Publishing Co. left Thursday for a two weeks' visit in the east.

Form Delphian Society

Thursday afternoon in the Menasha city library a Menasha chapter of the national Delphian society was organized. The organization was given the name of the Nicolet Delphian chapter in honor of Jean Nicolet, a Frenchman, who was the first white man to visit the region of what is now Neenah and Menasha on his exploration trip from Green Bay down the Fox river and into the Mississippi valley. Ladies who joined the society were from both Menasha and Neenah. Members who have once joined are entitled to the privileges of the club wherever they may be. The local chapter is particularly fortunate in having as its president Mrs. S. B. Morgan who is president of the sixth district of the State Federation of Woman's clubs. Mrs. Matthew Lawrence is vice president, Mrs. E. W. Krautkraeme, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Harry E. Bullard, chairman of the advisory board, with Mrs. D. C. Harris and Miss Edna Robertson as assistants. Other members are Mesdames F. J. Stroebel, J. Wallens, E. E. Jandrey, John Kaufman, W. M. Tauber, E. H. Puh, P. J. Poplinsky, M. M. Pittz, J. C. Harper, and Miss Emilie C. Horn.

Meetings of the society will be held the second and fourth Monday of each month at 3 o'clock at the Menasha public library beginning in September and through April.

Ten local chapters of the Delphian society were formed in this vicinity within the past week.

PIONEER MENASHA WOMAN DIES TODAY

Mrs. Richard Truskett Dead After Brief Illness—Jabber Jung Wins Fight.

Menasha.—Friday morning at The Truskett home, 320 Garfield-ave., Menasha occurred the death of another of Menasha's pioneer residents, Mrs. Richard Truskett. Mrs. Truskett was born in Galloway county, Ireland in 1845 and came to this county at the age of four years. She has lived in Menasha for 82 years. She is survived by five children, Richard, William, Jane, Isabella, and Mrs. John Ryan of Menasha, five grandchildren, a brother, Patrick Hussey of Fond du Lac, two sisters, Mrs. John Carey of Chicago, and Mrs. David Brownell of Denver, Colo. Mrs. Truskett had been a member of the St. Patrick church in Menasha ever since she came here. She was also a member of the sanctuary society. Mrs. Truskett suffered a slight stroke while at Fond du Lac a week ago and had been ill since then. She was in failing health, however, since the death of Mr. Truskett last May, and had also been worrying since the death of her son James Truskett who was killed in an accident with a truck last winter. The funeral will be held next Sunday from the St. Patrick church at Menasha.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schubert of LaCrosse are visiting at the home of Mrs. John Schubert in Menasha. E. A. Meyer of Neenah was a ton to do battle with "Red" Murphy and his band of warriors. Appleton is much ahead of Menasha in the percentage column, being almost neck and neck with Oshkosh but the Menasha team has been strengthened considerably during the last few weeks by the acquisition of Heath and Schultz of Juncos, and Menasha fans are looking for a victory. Heath pitched a wonderful game against Kimberly and although he did not pitch quite the same game against New London last Sunday his support in that game was not all it should have been.

Jones, who has been doing fine work at first base injured his leg in the first inning of last Sunday's game when he fell attempting to turn around at first base. The loss of Jones and the necessary change in lineup resulted in a much weakened Menasha team. Nothing has been heard from Jones since Sunday but it is expected he will be able to get into Sunday's game. With the support of both Menasha and Appleton fans a large crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the game.

Stockbridge business visitor Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. O. T. MacKinnon, Ethel MacKinnon, and Dorothy Little of Menasha, left Friday on an auto trip to Devil's Lake and Madison. Dripps at the Wisconsin University engineer's camp at Devil's lake. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rosenow and Those present were the Misses Mary and Anna Slop of Milwaukee, Lena Danke, Waupaca, and Mrs. Otto Stroemer of California. The entertainment consisted of singing and dancing.

Robbery Tales Make Appleton People Jumpy

There was a holdup at the postoffice about 11:30 Thursday night—almost. Arthur Kahler, night clerk, was on duty, and heard someone tapping on the window next to the slots where mail is deposited. Patrons sometimes do this to make their wants known outside of business hours.

Kahler opened the window but jumped back quickly as a man stuck out his arm and pointed something at him. Nobody said "stick 'em up" so Kahler didn't know just what to do. "Here, don't you want these cigars?" said the man. "I've got a package here too big to go through the opening and I want to get it into the night mail."

Feeling relieved, Kahler accommodated the man and then thought it all over amid rings of smoke.

Let Others Try It

Those who are ready to accuse the milk distributor of exorbitant prices will do well to consider the case of a correspondent of the British publication, The Cow-keeper and Dairyman's Journal. He says:

"A few years ago I thought as your writers now think, and reckoning up their so-called profits on paper, I ventured to adopt the get-rich-quick system and became a milkman.

"First, I bought a pony and float, rail churns, hand cans, and measures, with a good set of harness for a beautiful cob. Then I started to sell cheaper than my older and more experienced brethren, with the result I could not persuade the public that my cheap milk was as good as my competitors sold at the higher price. This cost me over 40 pounds—lost in three weeks, as I had agreed to take the whole of the milk from the dairy farm that they made, and to give not less than 14 days' notice when I wished to discontinue.

"During the first week I had about 25 per cent of the milk left on my hands, as I had bought cheap milk, and consequently suffered the usual sneers and demands for free supplies as yesterday's milk went sour. When I refused to change, seeing they admitted it was all right when I sold it, I was told 'It can be up to much, or else you wouldna sell cheaper than tothers, and at the end of two weeks' trial I had 50 per cent left over on my hands.

"So I bought a round for 35 pounds and tried my cheaper milk stunt here. The result was, at the end of a month's trial, I had lost half the customers I bought. My pony went lame, fell down and broke a shaft of the float and let me in for a wheelwright's bill, and I had to hire a pony for five weeks, then sold mine for 9 pounds less than I gave for it, bought another, and in a week's time found I had been had again, as the physis had worked out of it and she went a creak. The result was, I sent pony, float and harness to Wolverhampton to be sold, and can produce the auctioneer's account to show he got 4 pounds, 15 shillings for the turnout.

"This little venture cost me over 130 pounds, so I gave it up and never more will say the milk man overcharges me, or does not earn all he can get.

"How many people think when they go on their holiday, if only for a few days, and say to the milkman, 'I shan't want any today; you can call and see if I am back next Wednesday,' that he has had to buy their milk and must, therefore, take it home; and as so many thoughtless people do this, it is more than he or his family can drink or consume? So this loss comes off his day's earnings, and goes to the pigs if he is lucky enough to afford them.

"Instead of your correspondents inviting the trade to come out and fight each other and cut their throats or pockets by doing so, the trade is open to them if they think it worth their venture, to come into the open, speculate, and risk their own money, and see how nice it is to go around shouting till your throat is parched, 'Cheap new milk,' and balance up at the week's end to share in the golden harvest and establish a reputation to feel proud of. Then they can write to the Press and prove that it is easy to practice what they preach.

"My experience has proved that no trader suffers as much loss as a milkman, and no trader suffers more from sneers, or is considered less worthy of respect than the milk man! Let 'em all try it. I've had some."—From July Issue Milk Magazine. adv.

CIVIC CENTER IS URGED AS CITY'S GREATEST NEED

Miss Helen Sherman Writes
Theme on Appleton Plan at University.

One of Appleton's outstanding needs is a civic center in the opinion of Miss Helen J. Sherman of this city. She believes the city might have been much more attractive and convenient if the buildings erected in former years had been grouped around a park space near the center of the city.

Miss Sherman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sherman. As a pupil in the city planning class taught by Prof. Leonard Smith at the University of Wisconsin she prepared an article dealing with Appleton's situation. Her instructor has been engaged by the city to prepare a plan, and may touch upon some of the things she has written about. The article was reprinted in the summer issue of Community Betterment, chamber of commerce bulletin.

Buildings which Miss Sherman says should have been grouped in a civic center include St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton high school, Carnegie library, Franklin school, the four banks, postoffice, Y. M. C. A., Russell Sage dormitory, Vocational school and Lawrence Memorial chapel. She suggests that the civic center idea be kept in mind when a new courthouse is built.

A new concrete arch bridge is suggested across the Fox river at Lake-st. especially because this main artery of the Fox river valley draws so much tourist traffic.

Declaring that the tracks and depot of the Wisconsin and Northern railroad are bound to depreciate the values of homes on the south side of College-ave. in time, Miss Sherman urges remedial measures through zoning. She hints at the possibility of this railroad and the Chicago and Northwestern establishing a joint plot, thus doing away with the present unattractive station of the latter road.

All property south of the main line of the Northwestern tracks and west of the business center should be reserved for residential purposes, the thesis says. This territory has been invaded by the Reliance Motor company but no more factories should be permitted. The region east of State-st. and north of College-ave. should be residential only. Buildings of factories in the southwest and western parts of the city should be discouraged on account of the direction of the wind, which would blow smoke over the city. Three well-defined factory districts include the First ward in the vicinity of Atlantic and State-ments, the "fals" and Appleton Junction.

Land for a park should be purchased in the northeastern part of the town, Miss Sherman declares, and some street along the river should be chosen to be converted into a boulevard connecting the various parks. She commends the work already done to convert the ravines into heavily wooded spots and describes the attractiveness of Jones park. More swimming pools ought to be located along the river, she says.

More playground space is advocated for the high school on account of the barracks being located on the grounds. The remedy for this is suggested in the purchase of block 42, adjacent to the grounds and closing off Harrison-st. Beauties of the Fox river should be utilized, especially in the location of homes, because "it is only the maid who enjoys the picturesqueness of the river, and that from the kitchen window."

BIG PREMIUM LIST FOR FAIR AT DE PERE

Premiums offered for exhibits from Outagamie-co. and other counties at the Northwestern Wisconsin fair this year, show a substantial increase over former years according to the premium list issued by officials of the fair which will be held on the west side of the Fox River, between Green Bay and DePere, Aug. 23, 30, 31 and Sept. 1.

The fair association is making preparations for the largest fair in its history. Free attractions and fireworks have already been secured and will cost $3,500. Purse for horse races amount to $3,100 which is about equal to $5,000 under the old system of races.

Among the improvements which have been added to the grounds is a new automobile dealers' display building which cost $15,000. Other improvements costing more than $7,000 also are being made. It is the ambition of the association to make this year's fair among the largest in the state and it is expected that the event will draw a record attendance from this and neighboring states.

BENZ WANTS TO TELL EVERYONE

Worn Out and Discouraged, Milwaukee Man Says Tanlac Was Friend in Need to Him

"Tanlac has done me so much good I just can't keep from talking about it," said Albert Benz, of 1112 Buffum-st., Milwaukee, Wis., well-known employee of the National Enameling Co.

"Indigestion, stomach trouble, dizzy spells and nervousness had almost got the best of me, but four bottles of Tanlac have ended them all. I was in such a weak and run-down condition I could barely hold out at my work during the day, and when quitting time came it was all I could do to make it home. Why, I scarcely had the strength to drive a nail. My appetite was so poor I ate little or nothing, and gas would form and bloat me up until I had terrible smothering spells. My sleep was so restless that I felt tired mornings as when I went to bed the night before, and things were looking pretty gloomy for me."

"A man in the shops put me on to Tanlac, and it was one of the best turns anybody ever did me, for the medicine just went through me over all my troubles. I have such an appetite now I can hardly wait for mealtime to come and everything agrees with me to a tee." I have so much strength and energy that a good hard day's work doesn't make me feel any the worse. Tanlac is too good a medicine for others not to know about, and I want to tell everybody I can about it."

"I have suffered intense agony from eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of eczema or itching. You can refer to me—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield Street, Buffalo, N. Y."

"I've got a hundred testimonials says Peterson of Buffalo just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for 35 cents, and I am still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows."

"I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rapidly guaranteed for eczema, salt rheum, old sores, blind, bleeding and itching piles, ulcers, skin diseases, chafing, burns, scalds and sunburn, and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money." THE PRESIDENT AND THE RAILROADS
President Harding's message to congress offers a definite and altogether satisfactory plan for financing the railroads in their present difficulties, and for meeting the obligations of the government. His proposal is that congress shall confer authority on the war finance corporation to purchase securities which have been already authorized, up to the amount of $500,000,000. The war finance corporation is in a position to take up these securities, so that it offers a method for financing the railroads without drawing upon additional credit or without imposing additional taxes.
The situation is this: The government owes the railroads large sums of money, due under the agreement extending both to their operation during the war and their return at the conclusion of peace. The government on its part has certain claims against the railroads for true additions to their physical properties, and not merely upkeep. The inability to adjust these claims, due both to red tape and to disagreement, has resulted in such delay as is seriously embarrassing the railroads in their recovery and attempt to return to profitable operation.
The president's plan involves no new expense, no new obligations; it simply proposes to discharge its pledges to the railroads at this time and without further delay. When we stop to consider the fact that railway equipment purchases create markets for three times as much as all farm purchases in the lines compared and two-thirds as much as all industrial machinery demands for all trades, we see how essential to business and industrial recovery is a restoration of the buying power of the railroads. A half billion dollars is a large sum to put into the channels of industry and that is where most of it will go. It will help more than anything else to revive the steel trade, which depends upon the railways for one-half of its volume. It will stimulate many related lines, and cannot fail to have a healthy reaction upon all industry.
It has been pointed out that history shows that railway purchases generally precede recovery from a business slump, and that this was true of the revivals of 1905, 1910 and 1912. The sooner therefore we place the railroads in a position to command funds for betterments and expansions the sooner we shall be on the road to normal business conditions. It is to be hoped congress will give its prompt assent to the president's proposal, and that it will not haggle over the political aspects of the railway problem or over technicalities concerning the obligations of the government to the railroads.

BRITISH SHIPPING
According to the predictions during the war one of the greatest after-the-war problems would be to find enough ships to carry the world's goods. How impossible it is to estimate the future of these disturbed times is illustrated in the realities of the shipping situation as compared with the predictions.
The Chamber of Shipping of Great Britain has compiled figures showing that the idle shipping exceeds five million tons and that most of the ocean-going ships in service are being operated at a loss. Two things have contributed to this situation—the unexpected falling off in world trade and the unprecedented increase in world tonnage.
In spite of the great loss of ships during the war, there was an actual increase in tonnage during the six years from 1914 to 1920 of over eight million tons.

MEXICO
While it probably will be a long time before normalcy can properly be used to describe Mexico's condition, the Obregon government is moving in that general direction. Recently 18 out of 30 banks that were forced to close during the "disturbances," have been permitted to resume all customary operations, except the issuance of bank notes.
The Washington government is said to be increasingly hopeful that Obregon will soon meet our demand that a treaty guaranteeing American rights must precede recognition and the exchange of ambassadors. This demand having been met and recognition by America and the other nations accorded, Mexico will have "turned the corner."

GERMAN EFFICIENCY
German competition is creating a very acute condition in the Scandinavian countries, especially Sweden. In certain Swedish industries there has been an almost complete collapse, resulting in great financial losses and much unemployment.
The inability of the Swedes to hold their own against the Germans in competition is ascribed to the much lower standard of living among German workers. One of the leading manufacturers of Sweden is quoted as saying that under present conditions, the Germans are able to undersell almost anyone else in the world in the machinery industry, at least 50 per cent.
Even discounting this apprehensive attitude toward German competition, it nevertheless illustrates the recuperative powers of the German people. There is hardly any question that in five years from today German efficiency and determination will have made great progress toward a recovery of national economic prestige.

WOOD IN THE ROOF
Not long ago a couple of wells in the great Tampico fields of American-operated oil holdings "came in" with the result that the greatest oil fire in Mexican history resulted. Sunday a bolt of lightning set fire to Beaumont, Tex., tanks containing in all some 600,000 barrels of distillate and light oil. "Chemical processes were brought into play," says the report of the latter fire, "and would have saved the oil had not the wood in the tank roof started the fire each time after it was extinguished."
Probably many a gasoline and oil consumer in the land who read of these blazes heaved his sigh and hoped it was insured and remembered something he had read somewhere about America's oil resources being far from inexhaustible and hoped American genius would hop to it presently and invent a nonflammable oil well and prayed that the loss might not be visited upon him in a price jump at the filling stations.
We are fond of defending our national resources. We point proudly to our forest reserves. We strike at the policy which is cutting off all the good timber and leaving only brush for the future. So far little breath has been spent on the oil situation. Is there any particular reason why somebody should not invent a tank roof without wood in it? Is the nation which pushed through the Panama canal powerless before such a problem as controlling the "coming in" of oil wells?

Ald to Fame.
Marry late in life if you want your children to be great and famous. If you marry early, your children have small chance of taking a place alongside Einstein, Babe Ruth, Edison, O. Henry or Abraham Lincoln. This is the claim of Casper L. Redfield, Chicago scientific writer and authority on heredity. "Young marriages," says Redfield, "produce inferior mentalities in the offspring. And the first-born of such marriages is not apt to be as intelligent as children born later."

CHILD'S RELATIVE CHANCES OF BECOMING FAMOUS
This chart was prepared by Redfield after checking up ages of the fathers of 571 men, each famous enough to have at least a page devoted to him in Encyclopedia Britannica. The chart shows, for instance, that a boy born of a father 50 years or older has more than 50 times as many chances of becoming famous as the boy born of a 24-year-old father.
"Of the 571 celebrities I looked up," says Redfield, "most of them rose from the ranks whose fathers were over 40. Not one of them was the child of an early marriage. Where eminent men did have young parents, there was always a surplus heritage of age in the preceding three generations, wherein the grand-folk married late."
Five prizes of $200 each are offered by Redfield for proof that really great men or women were born of parents who constituted more than the third generation in a century. Lincoln, Ben Franklin, Currier, Wagner and hundreds of others, all had fathers over 40. Napoleon, Goethe and Tolstoy had young fathers. But those fathers each had at least three generations of ancestors who married late in life and thereby passed down a heritage of wisdom. Redfield's theory, condensed, is that the older a man gets the more wisdom he acquires, and that he can transmit that wisdom to his children. Is he right? The best fruit comes from old trees.

THE DRAINAGE TRAP.
When the patient complains of dyspepsia or stomach trouble a wise physician seeks rather for trouble in the kidneys, lungs, heart or throat.
In reporting observations made in the analysis of the contents of the fasting stomach, Drs. Lermann, Rehstus and Hawk of Philadelphia, mention that in the last 400 analyses the microscope showed pus present in 147 instances. Now it is certainly abnormal to find pus cells in the stomach. There are but few diseases of the stomach itself which might give such evidence, say syphilis, cancer and the very rare acute gastritis which is not at all the thing upset popularly dubbed gastritis. Then how did it happen that these pathologists found pus cells in over one-third of all the fasting stomachs?
They append this interesting comment to the report: "The fasting stomach can be considered as a drainage trap which collects much of the material draining from the post-nasal, oropharyngeal and even the respiratory tracts, and the material, which is difficult to demonstrate during the digestive period, (that is, in the analysis of gastric juice obtained after giving a test meal), is surprisingly easy of demonstration during the fasting period when, owing to reduced acidity, the cellular picture is often intact."
And it is practically impossible to express a physiological or medical fact here in language which no reader can misunderstand. Let no reader assume from what I have just quoted that this is an argument against fasting, nor that it is not normal for the stomach to be acid during digestion. The word oropharyngeal means mouth and throat cavities together; and post-nasal means the back part of the nose cavity.
Of the 147 persons who were found to have pus cells in the fasting stomach, 92 were victims of nose and throat affections and 12 had lesions in the lungs or bronchial tubes. The rest had various septic foci or pus-producing conditions of the teeth, gums, tonsils, middle ear or other local focus higher up.
It is curious how a sufferer from alleged "stomach trouble" will learn to ignore obvious causes in his own head and waste his life quarreling with items of food or self-dragging with all sorts of worthless and harmful things which purport to digest food or cure "indigestion," whatever that may be. Of all the unfortunate who are susceptible to the perpetual suggestion that in order to keep well or avoid serious illness one must constantly dose himself, the "dyspeptic" suffers the greatest injury from this vicious practice. How much happier the world would be if these victims of alleged "stomach trouble," instead of drugging themselves, should strive to master sufficient sense and real economy to—

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Hives.
Please tell me what one can do in the way of home treatment for an attack of hives. Our little girl has hives once or twice each summer, often when we are out in camp. (R. O. S.)
Answer—A brisk cathartic, preferably a dose of salts or bottle of citrate of magnesia. Diet limited to milk and bread for a day or two. Bathe the skin with a handful of salicylic acid in a basin of tepid water, or with oatmeal in water. Dry by gently pressing with soft towel and freely powder with cornstarch powder. For severe itching this lotion is a relief:
Powdered calamine 1/4 dram
Powdered zinc oxide 1 dram
Glycerin 1 ounce
Lime water 2 ounces
Rose water 4 ounces
Phenol 1 dram
Shake well and pat on with the fingers, as often as required, for severe itching.
Night Blindness.
Does the drug in coffee or tea merely stimulate without poisoning? I know it is difficult to compare, but in your best judgment which is the more harmful, a cup of coffee or tea or a cigarette? Personally I use none of them. (R. D. H.)
Answer—The alkaloid of coffee, caffeine, and the practically identical alkaloid of tea, theine, both stimulate the brain, heart and kidneys. The alkaloid of tobacco, nicotine, is not a stimulant, but a narcotic depressant, in its effect on the brain and heart and probably the kidneys. In my judgment the effect of the cigarette is the more harmful.
A Tag of Adenoid.
Our girl, aged four, weight 40 pounds, had tonsils and adenoids removed a year ago. She continues snoring, also has constant thick secretion in her nose. The specialist, a good surgeon, and our family doctor laugh at the idea of again operating—the family doctor says there is a tag or piece of adenoid present, but that it is unnecessary to remove it. (Mrs. G. S.)
Answer—Your family doctor ought to know, better than any one else can surmise, what is necessary. Often such trouble is due to a simple chronic rhinitis, which responds promptly to a little routine local treatment by the doctor.

The Wild Animal Business
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—Suppose you wanted an ocelot or a mountain lion, would you know where to go to get it? Or suppose it is an imported white-tailed deer you seek, a wild cat, or a brown bear. Filling the demand for these and a hundred other wild and tame animals on a whole-sale scale is a curious business, but a thriving and fairly large one. There are many business concerns in the United States engaged in the collection of animals from all parts of the globe, and their sale to private individuals, circuses and zoological parks. A number of these firms are located along the Mexican border.
The biggest part of the business is the importation of canary birds. Before the beginning of the World War, canaries were imported into the United States at a rate of more than a thousand a day. The record for one year was reached shortly before the outbreak of the war, when the government recorded the entry of 392,000 canaries.
Another bird item covers such game birds as quail, pheasants, and wild turkeys. As it is contrary to law to trap any game birds in the United States, birds for stocking private game preserves must be imported or the shooting suspended for a period of years while the dwindled stock has a chance to multiply. The price for live "Bob White" quail is usually from $2.50 to $3.00 for each bird, depending upon the size of the order. Mountain quail are quoted a little lower while turkeys of the wild variety will often cost as much as $17 apiece.
If for any reason a brown or black bear should be desired, it may be secured on fairly short notice for about $75. Mountain lions, alive, cost as much as $150. The smaller and commoner wild cat costs only about $20.
For the larger animals, the whole demand comes from the circus people and zoos. The prices for some of the big beasts range up to thousands of dollars. A good giraffe will easily command $5,000. Zoological men say that there are only about 20 now in the United States, the largest group being that owned by one circus. Few zoos can boast the possession of a giraffe.
Another animal which is rare in the United States is the rhinoceros, although its cousin, hippopotamus, can be seen in almost any collection of wild beasts imported from other climes. The gorilla, of the four great anthropoid varieties, is very scarce, the only one in the United States having died last winter from pneumonia. Good specimens of either the rhino or the gorilla are worth at least $5,000.
Lions Not Greatly in Demand
Tigers command a better price than lions. Right now lions are a drug on the market, and some can be obtained for as little as $350 or $400. Lions in captivity often breed well, and a considerable number now make their homes in this country. Not many years ago the American bison had dwindled to such small numbers that a good specimen was worth a considerable sum, but the efforts to preserve the beasts, both wild herds and those in captivity, have resulted in building them up to the point where all danger of extinction is past. Consequently they are not so valuable.
Elephants always command a good price. The last two elephants purchased for the zoo in Washington were small ones, and $5,000 was paid for the pair. A full grown elephant would be worth about this much money. Elephants rarely breed in captivity, but quite a number are caught every year in the big elephant drives. By the way, animal men say the great age attributed to elephants by fiction writers is a product of their imaginations, that the average length of an elephant's life is 50 to 60 years, and that it is rarely indeed that an elephant reaches 100 years.

It is not an uncommon sight to find black leopards in zoos and circuses. Contrary to general belief, this is not a distinct species, but a sporadic occurrence among the big cats. These are merely melanistic animals, occurring more frequently among leopards than among the larger members of the feline family. The animals have in their make-up a share of pigment, and are just the opposite of albino types, which completely lack pigment. There have been cases of albino tigers and leopards. There is at least one pair of a totally black tiger in the United States.
On the fur of the black leopard, in the proper light, the outlines of the spots may be seen easily. This over-supply of pigment in some other birds and animals is not uncommon, some varieties of hawks often being much darker than the ordinary color of their brothers and sisters.
The offspring of a black leopard might all be the usual spotted animals, but in some other kinds of beasts, by careful selection and breeding, most of the young ones born will be pigmented to such an extent that all will present an appearance very different from the original animal. In one notable instance, the darker animals have been produced in commercial quantities, and excellent specimens command prices a hundred times as great as the lighter colored specimens of the breed.
This case is that of the so-called silver black fox. This fox is exactly the same fox as the common red fox. Occasionally in the United States among a litter of young foxes a melanistic puppy was discovered, and in Canada this was more common. Sometimes some of the young ones would be darker on some parts of the pelt, and this skin is known commercially as the "cross fox."
Breeding Silver Foxes
Careful selection of the blackest of the melanistic foxes from generation to generation developed the silver black fox, some specimens of which are worth $3,000, as compared with a price of about $30 which the common red fox brings.
Fox farms where these beasts are raised for the fur they bear have become quite common in the United States and Canada. The Department of Agriculture says there are about 400 fox farms in this country, devoted mostly to the propagation of silver black foxes, and that there are more than 5,000 such foxes now in the United States. Several hundred are killed each year for the fur trade.
In developing the silver black fox, it was found that in parts of Canada, particularly Prince Edward Island, the black fox puppies occurred more frequently than in the United States, and most of the black foxes imported here came from Prince Edward Island. Canada, according to the figures in the possession of the Department of Agriculture, now possesses about 6,000 silver black foxes in captivity.
The black fox and the black leopard and a few other melanistic forms are common enough not to be freaks, and therefore have a legitimate place in zoos. Most animal experts contend that out and out freaks have not, as they are not representatives of any breed of animals, but are accidents of nature. However, Superintendent Hollister, of the Zoological Park in Washington says he is continually having offered to him five-legged calves, two-headed serpents, and every other conceivable strange formation of animal life. Without exception, these offers are refused. The only beasts approaching an unusual type of animal harbored in the Washington zoo are a cross between a female ass and a zebra, and a cross between a male zebra and a horse. These, Mr. Hollister pointed out, were not freaks, but such economic experiments in animal industry as the cross between the bison and the common cow.

SAYS STATE ROAD PLANS IN DANGER

Highway Engineer Wants Special Session of State Legislature.

Madison, Wis.—The Wisconsin highway organization perfected after 14 years of experience, faces complete disruption next summer along with the $25,000,000 annual construction program, unless a special session of the legislature is called by Governor Blaine to provide funds to meet the 1923 federal aid, A. R. Hirst, chief engineer for the highway commission, said on Thursday.

Reorganization will be impossible should the governor fail to call the legislature back for the purpose of providing for highway work after congress passes a new federal aid law, according to Mr. Hirst.

"The future of Wisconsin highways will rest in the hands of Governor Blaine as soon as congress passes the federal aid bill," he said.

"There will be no time then for the next legislature to provide funds. Unless the whole organization is to be thrown back at least three years, it will be necessary to have the legislature take steps to meet the situation."

Divisional engineers meet here Monday, Aug. 1, to consider the situation. The commission will then meet on Tuesday with Mr. Hirst for the most important session in years, he says, to work out reorganization plans for the next year, with the program for 1923 still beyond the point where plans can be made.

ASKS CITIZENS TO SUSPEND BUSINESS DURING FUNERAL

Military Honors Will Be Given Body of Lawrence Casey, Killed Abroad.

Kaukauna.—The body of Lawrence Casey, who was killed in service in France, left Hoboken, N. Y., at 10 o'clock Thursday morning and is expected to arrive in the city early Saturday morning. The Kaukauna post of the American legion will have charge of the funeral, which is to be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning from St. Mary church where solemn high mass will be sung.

Mayor C. E. Raught issued a proclamation Thursday in which he requested all business places to close during the hours of the funeral and to attend the services if possible. He stated that it probably would be the last time the citizens of the city would be called upon to show their respect to dead soldiers.

Private Casey was a member of Co. K, Fifth Wisconsin infantry. He will be buried with full military honors. Elliot E. Zekind, post adjutant, announced Lieut. Charles Soenke as officer in charge of the funeral cortege. The firing squad will consist of Edward Steidl, Harry Treptow, Tony Mitchell, Clifford Mereness, Adolph Blair, Ellsworth Kastell and Arthur Goetz.

Steve Mangold, Edward Ellen, John Nuhart, Albert Siebers, Robert Regenfuss and John Zink will act as pallbearers. Louis Faust will be color bearer with Lester Brenzel as guard. Bugler John Broucek will sound taps at the grave.

40 MEN ORDERED TO RETURN TO WORK IN RAILROAD SHOPS

Men Will Return at Reduced Wages—Fathers and Sons to Play Baseball.

Kaukauna.—Kaukauna took a stride toward normalcy in employment when it was announced that 42 railroad shopmen would be called to work Monday morning providing they accept the 12 per cent cut in wages ordered by the United States labor board in accordance with its order which took effect July 1. The stride is rather short since the number of men who are to return is only 18 per cent of the total number of men laid off in the spring, but it is an indication of returning employment.

Master Mechanic Robert Slater received authority to hire only 18 per cent of the 250 men who were forced to give up their work when the place closed down. After Monday morning there will be 62 men employed since 20 are now working daily in the different departments of the shops.

Dads Play Sons

The fathers of St. Mary parish have agreed to band together and administer a public whipping to their sons next Sunday afternoon. The event will take place at the city ball park and children will be admitted free but admission will be charged adults.

The whipping will be in the form of a baseball game between fathers and sons. The sons have the advantage inasmuch that many of them do nothing but play ball and it is possible that their dads will be humiliated in the presence of the multitude.

The lineup is as follows:

Fathers—A. Smith, c; P. Van Dyke, p; N. Haupt, 1b; L. C. Freeman, 2b; J. Heinz, ss; F. Goetzman, 3b; E. Kontnick, lf; C. Weigman, cf; L. Harzheim, rf.

2 COUNTIES ARE FIXING LAKE-RO.

Chamber of Commerce Gets Cordial Response From Highway Commissioners.

Splendid cooperation has been shown by James Binning, highway commissioner of Winnebago-co., and William Hoenig, highway commissioner of Calumet-co., with the Appleton Chamber of Commerce in keeping Lake-rod. in good condition for autoists.

Several car owners telephoned to Joseph J. Plank, chairman of the good roads committee, asking why the new bridge completed near Manitowish was not opened to traffic. Mr. Plank took the matter up with the commissioners, who promptly removed the barricades.

Autoists were annoyed by a bad bump as they approached the culvert south of Appleton, and when George Walsh's car struck the culvert rail, Mr. Plank got in touch with Mr. Binning about it and the official said the condition would be remedied Thursday.

Autoists no longer will be obliged to plow through several inches of sand in the road east of Finnegan corner in order to reach their cottages. A crew of men is giving the road a macadam surface. About half a mile of the work is completed. The commission intends to treat the road in this manner for two miles to Lake park. The road has not been closed to traffic.

Doing Their Best
"Some people wonder why the stones are not removed from the road leading to Waverly beach and others ask why the patrolmen do not drag this road and make it more smooth," said Mr. Plank. "The county crews are doing their best and we must not expect everything to be done at once. I put this matter up to both counties and was informed that next year this highway will be surfaced with fine gravel. More work has been done there than most people realize, but those who know how nearly impossible it was a year or two ago will admit that we have accomplished much already."

"The reason the surface cannot be freed from stones is that there is no fine material on the road that can be dragged into the center to fill in the depressions. When this is filled in next year the roughness will disappear. The commissioners have done well and I have heard many expressions of appreciation."

SELLS DAMAGED AUTO; CAN'T COLLECT DAMAGES

Selling a damaged automobile automatically cancels any claims for reimbursement from those responsible for injury to the machine.

This fact is brought to light by the experience of Albert Laabs of Dale who entered claims against the county when his automobile was badly damaged by a loose plank over a culvert on highway 18 several weeks ago. At that time the damage to the car was estimated at between $500 and $600.

Since filing his claim against the county, Laabs has sold the automobile and now, according to statute, cannot recover damages.

No More Carnivals
Editor, Post-Crescent—At last it appears that we are to be rid of the curse of carnivals visiting out city every few weeks.

If the action of the Mayor's veto is upheld, and I can see no possibility for the council over-riding this veto, we may look forward to no more blotches upon the fair name of our city, so far as carnivals are concerned.

It seems that we have had lessons enough in dealing with carnival companies. I understand that a recent outfit of this kind visiting one of our neighboring beaches became so obnoxious that it was necessary to close the carnival on the last night and what was practically a free-for-all fight.

It is hard to understand how our council can invite recurrence of this kind by granting further licenses. Yours For a Clean City.
Appleton, Wis., July 28, 1921.

No Time For Extravagance.
Editor Post-Crescent—I wish to congratulate the mayor and the members of the council who voted against the granting of licenses to carnival companies permitting them to operate in Appleton. In these days of unemployment and the adjustment of wages when local grocers and merchants generally are extending credit to our citizens and agencies are furnishing free services and clothing, families can ill afford to carry home innumerable baskets of fruit, kewpie dolls and other articles purchased through a game of chance rather than because of a legitimate need.

FARMERS FLOCKED TO DUROC JERSEY SALE

Northeastern Wisconsin Duroc breeders flocked to the first annual sale held by the Brown County Duroc Breeders' association at the sales pavilion on the Northeastern Wisconsin Fair grounds near Green Bay Wednesday.

Wednesday's sale was under the direction of E. A. Heberlein of Fenimore who is reputed to be one of the best Duroc auctioneers in this section of the country. Nick Vanderveer of DePere was sales manager.

Sixty-six hogs were on sale. They include offspring of well-known Durocs such as General O'Ryan, Crescent King, Proud Cherry Chief, American Colonel Success, Fashion Leader V. V. Cherry King, Pathfinder, Virginia Adonia, Cherry Orion Colonel's Lad Mac's Wonder King, Top Investor and Taxpayer.

The Misses Mary Kanouse and Lole Trossen will arrive home Thursday night from Sturgeon Bay, where they have been picking cherries for the last two weeks.

Consumers' Carelessness Keeps Up Price Of Milk

Milk Dealer Says Breakage of Bottles Boosts Expenses
by $1,500 a Year.

It is the spirit of "let George do it" among the children of families that is the milkman's greatest worry, according to Appleton milkmen.

When mother tells John to bring in the milk bottle, John is likely to say "Oh, can't Mary do that?" Mary happens to be busy grooming her doll for the day so she tells Tom to do it. So Tom, just able to toddle, hurries for the bottle of milk and frequently burries just a little too fast, especially on the return trip when he either drops the bottle or stumbles causing the family to be minus the day's supply.

ply of milk and the milkman to be minus a good milk bottle.

This disaster sometimes reveals a strange human trait, the milkmen say. People who are scrupulously honest in every other particular do not seem to think it their duty to replace the broken bottle. They take it for granted that it's all in the business and that the milkman will be only too glad to furnish another bottle simply for the privilege of retaining their patronage.

On this account, broken bottles have come to be one of the milkman's chief expense. Joseph E. Amend, of the Appleton Pure Milk company, gives the exact figures on breakage. The company uses 1,000 milk bottles daily and no bottle makes more than 30 trips. Mr. Amend declares. In fact it is necessary to replace the bottles each month. Replacing broken bottles cost the company $1,500 last year.

Resort to Tricks.
The traffic in milk bottles is also expensive to certain milkmen. It is an old story that "there are tricks in every trade" but sometimes there are tricks whether there is a trade or not. Mr. Amend has discovered one of this type.

He has found that people often go to the grocery store and buy two bottles of milk when they really need only one. Then the next day they attempt to exchange the extra bottle for a smaller bottle of milk. Very often they succeed. After all it is just a scheme of getting something for nothing.

To avoid this practice, milkmen have asked grocers to charge for each bottle taken from the store but some grocers have objections to doing this. At one of the city schools last year, the company found an extraordinary traffic in their milk bottles was going on. Two hundred bottles of milk were delivered to this school daily but never more than 180 empty bottles were returned. It seemed that the breakage could not be so great and it is believed that a few children kept the bottles and then "sold" them for a few cents, so that they could supply themselves with candy.

Bottle Caps Expensive.
Caps for the milk bottles add considerable to the expense of conducting a retail dairy. Prices of these caps have increased 400 per cent during the last three years.

Parents should consider "said Mr. Amend, "that by sending small children to the grocery or milk station after the bottle of milk, they often expose the little folks to danger. The children frequently drop the bottles and step on the glass with their bare feet or they run and fall on the bottle. Serious injury might result in either case."

Because the container costs more than its contents in the handling of milk, and because replacing broken containers is so costly, the retail price of milk can not fall appreciably, milk dealers declare.

NOTICE!

(Information to the Public in general)

Whereas we have been continuously probed with questions concerning the controversy between the carpenters and Association contractors, we wish to inform the public that the scale of wages of building crafts for this year already settled is as follows: Plumbers, $1.00 per hour. Tinnerns, 75c per hour. Painters, 75c per hour. Shop Carpenters, 60c to 75c per hour. Masons settled as far as wages are concerned, $1.00 per hour. Now is $2.00 per hour too much for outside carpenters who furnish their own tools and considering lost time throughout the year?

If you want carpenter work done, Telephone 1551 or 2081. All our carpenters are covered by compensation insurance. We will supply you with competent carpenters at 35c per hour.

WILL SEE THREE GUERNSEY HERDS

Dairymen Enthusiastic Over
Proposed Excursion Next Thursday.

Three of the most enterprising Guernsey breeders in Waupaca and Portage counties will be visited by Outagamie-co. Guernsey breeders on the dairy excursion next Thursday. The trip will cover 52 miles one way, according to present plans.

Much enthusiasm has been shown by the breeders for the trip. Not less than 20 automobile loads of people are expected. The dairymen are eager to see other herds than those in their immediate locality, and with their farm work well out of the way, will give over Thursday to the trip.

The route announced by Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank, will be directly through the city of Waupaca to the farm of Carl T. Knutson, eight miles northwest. Mr. Knutson has one of the best herds in the county of purebred and grade Guernseys, noted for their sturdy growth as well as type. There are several proved herd sires that are said to be well worth seeing.

Excursionists then will go through Scandinavia to the farm of L. S. Murat, one of the oldest breeders in the county. He raises purebred Guernseys entirely and his animals have a splendid reputation for produc-

STREET PAVERS TO FINISH NEXT MONTH

The Western Improvement Co. of Racine expects to complete its paving contract in Appleton by the middle of August and a week will then be required to ship its equipment which consists of 11 carloads. The asphalt plant is the heaviest piece of machinery to be moved.

The contractors have finished Water, Lawrence and Morrison-sts. and are now at work on Superior-st. The crew engaged in putting on the first coat of asphalt is at work on west College-ave. The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. is engaged in putting down a brick pavement between and on each side of its rails on Second-st. and as soon as that is completed the asphalt crew will finish that street.

Plant Resumes Work.
The plant of the Konz Box and Lumber Co. is in full operation again after being closed down for a week because of the death of Felix Konz, who was fatally injured in a motorcycle accident.

tion and type. Dinner probably will be eaten on the Murat lawn.

The last stop will be four miles further on at the L. E. Gordon farm, just over the line in Portage-co. Mr. Gordon has a herd that has attracted statewide attention, and includes a former class leader for production. Eight of Mr. Gordon's cows are under advanced registry tests.

You'd Have Your Opinion about Just "Eggs"

---and it's a toss-up which is the more dubious economy---cheap motor fuel or cheap eggs.

Not even that would be so bad if poor cracked motor fuel gave you the same chance of discrimination as the honest egg labels.

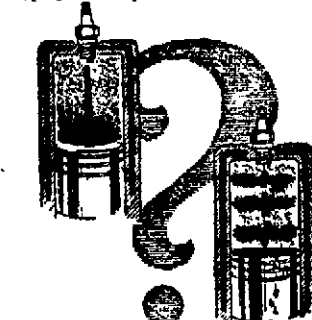

But when supposedly low gallon cost is paraded on the same sign with extravagant claims of top quality---there's an attack on your good faith and your pocketbook that ought to be brought up with a round turn.

Your expensive motor has a right to the same protection against "Cracked-and-Dirty," "Rots-and-Spots," as the pure food laws give you with eggs. Imperfect combustion, excessive carbon and rank kerosene are not marks of the "Firsts" and "Extra Fancies" of safe motor food, and if you want to buy them, it should be under fair representation of what you are getting.

Until such laws come, your protection lies in the clean, keroseneless, "straight run," real gasoline that you can safely buy on name alone---

LEAGUE IS SURE TO FINISH YEAR IN GOOD STYLE

Menasha Magnate Wants to Form Eight Club Circuit Next Season.

The Fox River Valley league will hold itself together till the end of the season.

This is the verdict of baseball observers and managers of the teams after "feeling out" exact conditions in the various clubs and stating opinions of the most affected.

New London is hampered by the loss of two men but not beaten and will fight with determination until the end of the season. Kimberly is far from hopeless and will secure good players, if possible, to fortify weak places. The other four teams of the league are still going strong so the prospects are good for closing the season in good form.

C. E. Pierce, of the management of the Menasha team, has a proposition he expects to bring before heads of the league at their next meeting. He asks the formation of a league next year of Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna and Green Bay. He points out that all these places are on one railroad and on a concrete highway so that they are accessible. The management of the Franks is said to regard the proposition favorably.

Sport Views And News

Reports from Milwaukee the last few days were to the effect that several Lake Shore magnates are seriously considering a plan to amalgamate the Fox River Valley circuit with their wheel and form the strongest semi-pro league in the middlewest. Their idea is to include Appleton and Oshkosh of the Valley league, build up a team at Fond du Lac, drop one team from the Lake shore league and then have an eight team circuit. That sounds good but may not be so good for the magnates of the valley league. The shore wheel is widely scattered and traveling expenses would be much greater. The class of ball isn't much better in the shore league—many fans say it isn't as good. Perhaps a better plan would be to slightly enlarge the valley league and let the shore leaguers go their own way. It will be just as good for the fans and better for the magnates.

The Yanks are dug in at the Polo grounds for a 15 day stay and they plan to put up the strongest kind of a battle to keep the Indians from first place. Huggins' New Yorkers are getting a good brand of pitching these days and they are right on the heels of Speaker's tribe. The four game series which opens in Gotham Saturday between the Yanks and Injuns should be filled with enough fireworks to satisfy the most rabid fan.

When Sisler was suspended, it was predicted that the St. Louis Browns would crumble to pieces without their star in the line up. However, a youngster, Pat McMannus, stepped in to the first basing job and Sisler has hardly been missed. What's more, the Browns have been winning games. The recruit is hitting like a wild man and he is pulling off some wonderful stunts in the field. Even staid old Father Knickerbocker is gasping at the youngster's work.

We have a new middleweight champion in our midst. Bryan Downey polished off Johnny Wilson in a Cleveland ring after seven rounds of mulling. The title holder got an artistic trimming, he was battered to smithereens by his hard hitting opponent and the yelp about foul tactics and a short count is not likely to be given much consideration by the fight fans of the country. Wilson was always somewhat regarded as a "cheese" champion and his upset at the hands of Downey won't be the cause of many tears.

Lord Northcliffe, the London publisher, is a strong booster for sport news and he thinks that it is one of the strongest features of the news paper of today. The Englishman is a keen supporter of international athletic competition and has been an interested spectator at the track meets between the Oxford-Cambridge squad and the American college teams.

THERE IS A REASON WHY WILSON WANTED GARDNER

Cleveland.—Promoters of the Downey-Wilson bout said that when articles were signed it was agreed that the Cleveland boxing commission should name the referee. Wilson refused to enter the ring Wednesday night unless Gardner refereed and rather than disappoint the crowd the commission consented. At the conclusion of the bout when the uproar had subsided the commission ruled that Downey knocked Wilson out the first time he dropped him.

NECK AND NECK IS WAY TO DESCRIBE BIG LEAGUE RACES

Pittsburg and Cleveland Have Precarious Hold on First Positions.

By Henry L. Farrell

New York.—Neck and neck all the way seem to be the prospects for the major league pennant races.

Seldom, if ever, have the battles for the championships been as closely contested and as uniformly alike as they are now in both leagues.

Today, Pittsburg, leading the National league, and Cleveland, cut in front in the American league have both won sixty games and lost thirty four.

The New York clubs, both active the roles of runners up, are but a far cry dissimilar. The giants have won 58 games and the Yankees 57. Both have lost 34 games.

Pittsburg goes right along clinging to the lead. Much depends for the rest of the journey on what the Pirate pitchers will be able to do under the strain.

The Giants are battling along right within striking distance of the leading Pirates, but with a club that seems to lack what McGraw wants in it.

The Giant pitching has been one of the greatest handicaps so far in the race. Efforts have been made now to secure another experienced hurler, but the attempt to secure Lee Meadows from the Phils seems to have fallen through.

The acquisition of the hard hitting "Irish" Meusel will help the club on the offense but the most glaring need of the club is defensive strength in the box.

Cleveland is out in the lead in the American league principally because they have the fighting spirit.

The Indians have encountered enough this season in the way of accidents and disappointments to send a less courageous club down to the bottom.

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero: Jack Graner. The veteran Indian scored from first base on a single in the ninth and marked up the run that beat the Red Sox, 5 to 4.

Waite Hovee let the Browns down with four hits. The Yankees won 6 to 0.

Four runs in the ninth inning enabled the Giants to beat the Pirates, 6 to 4, and gain a full game on the leaders.

The Braves were outbitt by the Reds but by better baserunning they turned in a 2 to 1 victory.

Cadore had the better of Cheever in a pitchers' battle and the Robins won their third straight from the Cubs, 3 to 2.

Jess Haines allowed the Phils five hits and the Cards won, 9 to 0.

Home runs by Shanks and Milan helped the Senators make it three straight from the Sox, 8 to 5.

Ty Cobb returned to the game after a month's absence and the Tigers won 9 to 2 after they had dropped the first part of a double bill to the Athletics, 3 to 2.

SISLER'S SUSPENSION TO BE LIFTED SATURDAY

St. Louis, Mo.—The suspension of George Sisler, ace of the local Americans, will be lifted on Saturday. President Ban Johnson notified team officials on Thursday. Sisler was suspended and fined $50 for assaulting Umpire Hildebrand last Saturday.

POLO GROUNDS MADE TO ORDER FOR KING OF SWAT

New York.—If Babe Ruth didn't bat at the Polo Grounds he would be just the ordinary home run hitter. Of his present string he has socked 18 there. If he played at Chicago all the time he wouldn't be in the limelight at all. He's only manufactured one at the White Sox park. The Polo Grounds are made to order for Babe. But the fact is Bambino is way ahead in his stunt of hitting homers in every park. In 1919 Babe's twenty-ninth, September 27, completed the circuit. In 1920 it was the fifty-second. Aug. 14. This year it was his thirty second, July 10.

SEATTLE SWIMMER IS NEW JUNIOR ONE MILE CHAMP

Ferdinand Erich of Detroit followed Konowal off, 75 yards behind. Mrs. Malcolm won the diving honors over Marie Peterson of Minneapolis.

Tilden Plays Mind-Tennis

William T. Tilden Off the Ground

William T. Tilden in practice plays tennis with a racket. In matches he plays with his mind.

Mind-tennis has placed him among the world's super greats.

Ten years ago a slender boy in short pants ran balls in the Davis cup match between W. A. Larned and J. C. Parke at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia.

Nobody noticed him.

A year ago that same slender boy, now grown to a slender man went to Wimbledon England and defeated that same Parke while British royalty looked on.

Strain of Four

For the past 20 months he has traveled from one end of the world to the other, winning with his mind tennis from old world stars.

The tall tourist, home again, is directing his siege guns towards the defense of the Davis cup which he won.

At present Tilden is over-tennised. The strain has been great in traveling thousands of miles. In England he won in spite of illness.

His one defeat recently at Providence, R. I., by the 19-year-old Vincent Richards, was a surprise and upset.

Keck Will Shine This Fall

Stanley Keck, captain of the Princeton eleven, will be ready for the whistle this fall.

Despite the heat of mid-summer he is working daily in molestuns at Chicago.

He is spending the summer with Mark Bates, Princeton freshman last year. Every day they go through a rigid training program.

They tackle the dummy, practice line bucking and goal kicking.

Keck proved himself great enough last fall to be named on the All American.

He'll be even greater this fall.

Sport Spree

On July 23, 40,000 Boston fans jammed into Braves Field to see the Boston-Pittsburg double-header. Ten thousand people witnessed the Harvard-Yale vs. Cambridge-Oxford field meet. Twelve thousand bike fans gathered at the cycle track the same evening. Ten thousand bugs attended the Shevlin-Laitz bout.

Walking Up

England is coming back as a world power in sports. The spirit is reviving which makes any nation a worthy leader. The change has been noted since the war.

Her weakness has been her own complacency. She has originated games, taught them to the world, and then sat back satisfied to see other countries develop the stars and then cash in.

To be a winner in sport the players must take it seriously.

That is what England has not done in the past.

Remarkable

Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Miss Mark K. Browne, both comebacks in tennis, are playing brilliantly in their early tests.

How these women have retained their former greatness is truly remarkable.

They seem to have stepped back on the courts from their yesterday's same stars they were several years ago as champions.

About them there is still the original poise and mechanical skill.

In other sports a layoff of eight or ten years means ruin.

But Mrs. Bundy and Miss Browne are in condition to add other bright pages to their former tennis history.

All's Well

The New York Yankees didn't find "anything the matter with baseball" on their western swing.

Babe Ruth & Co. showed off before 280,000 fans.

Cleveland was the banner town. Eighty thousand turned out for the series. Detroit was second with 73,000 and Chicago was third with 63,000. St. Louis was the weak series with but 15,000.

This is better by 50,000 than the

SPOKE CAN THROW A MEAN ROPE WHEN BALL SEASON ENDS

Cleveland Manager Likes to Spend Off Seasons on His Texas Ranch.

Everybody knows a lot about Tris Speaker, the ball player, but they know little about Spoke, the cowboy.

The tall Texan wields a mean ball bat—also he throws a mean rope.

All Texans do—that is the real fellows who grew up in the longhorn cattle districts.

Hubbard City, Spoke's home town, is a cattle town.

The natural dress down there consists of a pair of boots, chaps, bandana handkerchief, a colored shirt, a tall hat and a lariat.

Spoke owns a ranch near Hubbard and he has it well stocked with future pot roasts and porterhouse steaks.

He used to work on a ranch before he got into baseball.

Each fall and winter he goes back to his rope and his saddle.

Lois of Fun.

"I'm not the best roper in the world," says Spoke, "but it's a lot of fun."

At the Fort Worth rodeo last fall I roped and tied a couple of steers in 34 seconds each.

That's considered fair time unless you are in the business all the time."

Recently Spoke competed in a roping contest at a wild west show in Cleveland.

He didn't win any prizes. But he tried. His time was a little over a minute for roping and tying a calf.

The crowd gave him about 99 per cent of the cheering just the same, for Spoke is the popular idol since he won the pennant for Moscos Cleveland.

Southpaw Roper.

Spoke does everything left-handed in baseball, and he is a southpaw roper.

He owns the gayest saddle, bridle and chaps that were ever made from leather. His boyhood friends from Hubbard City presented them to him last fall after he led the Indians to a pennant.

And as one of the cowpunchers remarked, "Spoke don't fit in up here in the city. He belongs down in the steer country."

But Spoke won't go back to cattle roping when he's through with base ball.

He's got the bug for contracting work. Jim Dunn, contractor and owner of the Indians, plans to start Spoke off in this business.

"I'll never be a bench manager," Tris says.
